HU enrollment highest in 127-year history

Huntington University has broken its previous enrollment record for the third year in a row. A total of 1,777 students are enrolled for fall 2024, up from 1,504 students in 2023 and 1,428 students in 2022. This is the first time in the University's 127-year history that enrollment has surpassed 1,700 students. In 2023, the University shattered previous enrollment records by surpassing 1,500 students for the first time.

"What an exciting moment in HU's history!" said Dr. Sherilyn Emberton, president of Huntington University. "Students are joining the Forester Family from all over world and almost every state in the U.S. This 18% growth is directly attributed to innovative programs with national reputations. We are also thrilled to see our new dual and concurrent credit initiatives to reach Indiana's high school students nearly triple their enrollment. This targeted growth should promote more Hoosier students to pursue education at the collegiate level."

"This record-breaking enrollment is truly a testament to the incredible work and dedication of our admissions and enrollment teams," said Susie Carr, assistant vice president for enrollment strategy and undergraduate admissions. "Our strategic efforts to connect with students both locally and nationally, particularly through targeted outreach and new initiatives, have paid off in ways we could only dream of. The success we are seeing is a direct result of the collaboration across all departments at the University. I also believe God's faithfulness has been evident throughout this journey, and we remain committed to nurturing the academic and spiritual growth of every student who joins our Forester Family."

With 1,266 undergraduates enrolled on HU's home campus in Huntington, and 242 undergraduate students at the HU Arizona location in Peoria, Arizona, the University continues to be encouraged by the student populations in both locations.

At Huntington University Arizona, undergraduate programs in animation, film and graphic design drew an impressive 21% enrollment increase compared to last year.

Now in its second year, the Fort Wayne, Indiana-based Accelerated Bachelor of Science in Nursing (ABSN) degree program in partnership with Indiana Tech and Parkview Health has increased to 59 students. The first ABSN cohort will graduate in October 2024. In addition, the animal health and veterinary nursing dual-degree program, which is in its second year of partnership with Purdue University's College of Veterinary Medicine, grew by 50% this year on the University's home campus in Huntington. Agriculture, animation, business, film and nursing continue to show consistent interest as majors to incoming undergraduate students. HU's efforts in targeted graduate programs are also showing growth, including the Master of Business Administration (MBA) and Master of Arts in clinical mental health counseling degree programs.

"It is encouraging to see growth in Huntington's graduate and non-traditional programs," said Jeff Berggren, assistant vice president for graduate and online programs and university marketing. "The University has the opportunity to serve unique populations of adult students with programs such as the ABSN, the occupational therapy assistant to occupational therapy doctorate bridge, and the Master of Arts in clinical mental health counseling. The MBA has just launched two new concentrations in non-profit administration and in international agriculture, which will expand the impact of the University.

"The traditional Doctoral Program in Occupational Therapy (OTD program) is one of the oldest in the country and is celebrating 10 years of operation in Fort Wayne with hundreds of graduates in professional healthcare positions. Over 25% of those OTD graduates serve in the Fort Wayne region. However, the truly motivating aspect of this growth is that all our graduate and non-traditional programs reflect the Christ-centered mission of Huntington in a distinct and meaningful way."

Students across the University hail from 64 of the 92 counties in Indiana, 38 states (including Alaska and Hawaii) and 32 countries. They represent all four corners of the United States, from Washington to Florida and California to Maine.

Minority students make up 24% of the 2024-2025 student body, which is an increase for the University. Indiana continues to be the biggest pool for students, with Arizona, Ohio, Michigan and Illinois also being significant contributors to the record growth.

The City of Huntington held a ribbon cutting on Wednesday, September 25 to officially open the new handicap accessible area at Drover Park. According to Steven Yoder, superintendent of City Parks & Recreation, the project was completed with the help of many organizations and individuals that stepped up to help in the project. Shown above is Yoder, far left, as he and a young girl officially cut the ribbon to open the all inclusive playground. Mayor Richard Strick said the City of Huntington is grateful to everyone that offered their assistance with this project.

The City of Huntington held their second official ribbon cutting on Wednesday, September 25 to commemorate the opening of the .74-mile section of the Erie Rail Trail connecting Huntington University, Parkview Huntington Hospital, Crestview Middle School, Parkview Huntington Family YMCA and the Heritage of Huntington. The project connects to the existing eight miles of trails throughout the city of Huntington. The trail is part of the regional priority zone for the Northeast Indiana United Trails Plan. Shown are several local leaders and representatives of the Next Level Trails that helped lead the charge on the extension. Mike Skeens, center with scissors, president of the Huntington Area Recreational Trails Association (HARTA) board of directors, is shown cutting the ribbon to officially open the extended trail. Next Level Trails provided the city with a grant for $784,300.

Constitution Day 2024 celebration held at HU

Presidents Ulysses S. Grant, Harry S. Truman and George Washington visited Huntington over the past several days helping the City of Huntington celebrate Constitution Day, and in recognition of Huntington becoming a city on September 17, 1873. The theme of this year's event included presidents that served during war times, and how it impacted their time in office.

During their time in Huntington, the presidents held a convocation at Huntington North High School for all fifth grade students in Huntington County, and followed with a presentation at the Merrillat Centre for the Arts at Huntington University for the community. The program was free to everyone that attended.

The sponsors of Constitution Day included the City of Huntington; Huntington University; Huntington County Community School Corporation; Huntington County Chamber of Commerce; The Huntington Bicycle Shop, Brooks Fetters; Purviance House Bed & Breakfast, and James and Regina Ditzler Charitable Fund.

Chamber honors veterans with memorials, parade

The Veterans Memorial in Memorial Park was built to honor all five branches of the military. It was dedicated on November 7, 2015 and honors those wounded or killed while serving their country. Memorial Park was dedicated May 30, 1922 also in honor of veterans.

The Huntington County Chamber of Commerce supports Huntington's veterans through fundraising toward and development of the monuments that have been placed in the Veterans Memorial. It has also been involved in renaming West Park Drive near the park, the Purple Heart Corridor. The Chamber honors veterans through the organization and staging of the Veterans Day Parade each year in November.

The Veterans Memorial is a beautiful, solemn space designed for visitors, and offers a place to learn, reflect and offer respect to those who serve and have served our country. The Lockheed T-33A Shooting Star jet was added during park renovations in 2015. The Veterans Memorial also includes a Sherman tank, Purple Heart monument and a Killed in Action (KIA) Memorial honoring fallen soldiers from Huntington County. Eight other markers are within walking distance.

Iwo Jima groundbreaking held on August 19

A groundbreaking was held on Monday, August 19 at Memorial Park for the newest addition of an Iwo Jima memorial. Plans call for the memorial to be unveiled during Veterans Day on November 11.

Iwo Jima is an island in the Pacific that provided a place for an air campaign to be waged against mainland Japan. Nearly 7,000 Marines died on this island, making it the bloodiest day in Marine Corps history.

According to Christopher Shortridge, the organizer of the Iwo Jima memorial, "Over 16 million American veterans took part in World War II. Of those veterans there are less than 100,000 remaining today."

"We have been raising money since 2016 and finally breaking ground. The ceremony/unveiling will be held on Monday, November 11 at 11 a.m. at the Memorial Park site, at the top of Bartlett Street across from the pond," said Shortridge.

If anyone would like to get involved via a donation or in the email shortridge\_1@yahoo.com, and he will assist you.
